NITROGEN goes up in Smoke!

EVERY time a gun is fired, nitrogen goes up in smoke. To keep the guns firing, nitrogen must be conserved on the farm.

One of the best ways of conserving nitrogen is to make better use of farm manure. Three pounds of 20% superphosphate per cow sprinkled on floors and gutters in the dairy barn makes barn manure into a complete fertilizer. Dairymen, with a well-manured rotation, can get along with superphosphate alone, will not need a nitrogen fertilizer.

By laying in both your winter and spring supply of superphosphate now, you can be sure of adequate supplies when you need them. Order your superphosphate requirements now.

TIMES-VIRGINIAN

Live Weekly Newspaper, Serving the Heart of Virginia's Great Dark Tobacco Belt, at Historic Appomattox, Where War Ended on April 9th, 1865.

VOLUME 50 NUMBER 39 APPOMATTOX, VIRGINIA THURSDAY SEPTEMBER 24, 1942 ESTABLISHED 1892

Writes Senator In Behalf of Farm Prices

Appomattox, Va. September 22, 1942

Senator Harry Flood Byrd
Washington, D. C.

Newspapers indicate that two farm bills have been introduced, one in the House and one in the Senate. Our farmers here disapprove the Senate's bill as described by the newspapers because of its inadequacy. The House bill as we understand it will be the following:

1. Put the floor under farm prices at parity from the present until three years after the war.

2. Authorize a ceiling on farm prices as parity or the highest price so far commanding in 1942, whichever is higher.

3. Re-define parity so as to "include all cost of production including the cost of labor."

4. Authorize and direct the President to stabilize "maximum salary and industrial wages," so as to maintain fair and accurate relations between them and crop prices."

There is one missing link in the bill as described by the press, nothing is said about limiting the high salaries of industrial profit. Other than this our farmers will highly approve the House bill as described and we respectfully urge that all Virginia Congressmen and Senators give it aggressive support.

The prevention of food shortage is now in the offing and hinges very largely on whether or not the floor is placed at parity.

Farming is like manufacturing in that a farmer produces for sale. The difference is that he produces farm products while manufacturers produce manufactured products, and another difference is that most farmers operate their own plants and work for themselves while manufacturers employ practically all of their labor.

One of the important facts apparently is not fully understood by the President. It is that the price a farmer receives for his product determines the wage that he receives for his work. This wage is not received until after he pays fixed charges, including land use, taxes, fertilizer, equipment and mules.

Stated differently, when a farmer goes to market he takes three costs, namely, labor, plant food and use of capital and equipment. The same is true of manufacturing.

Obviously, a farmer must pay his fixed costs before he gets his labor income. Likewise a manufacturer must pay his fixed costs, including hired labor, before he receives a dividend upon his investment. Farmers, too, have an investment upon which they are entitled to a fair return, in addition to satisfactory wages, for their work and the work of their families.

Farmers this year have come through with flying colors on their war time goals.

Food production this year will be about 10 per cent greater than in 1941. This record production is being turned in with only about 75 per cent of the manpower available last year.

This increase was accomplished by farmers working from twelve to fourteen hours a day with help of farm women and children and otherwise co-operating with their neighbors. This production has been turned in quietly without fanfare. Freedom means something to the men on the farm and is one thing that he will fight to preserve, both at home and abroad.

Very truly yours,

R. B. Hudgins,
General Farmer

Look at how simple it is to figure out how much sugar one gets for feeding bees: "In order to determine he number of pounds of sugar to be allowed for any period for feeding bees shall be the number of colonies of bees to be fed during the calendar year by ten and multiply the product by the quotient obtained after dividing the number of weeks during which the bees are fed within the period for which the application is made by the total number of weeks such bees are fed during the full calendar year and that the bees are fed during 5 weeks of the year, 2 of which are in the period for which the application is made."

GILLIAM—JOHNSTON

Mr. and Mrs. John Dunn Johnston, of Spout Spring, announce the marriage of their daughter, June Allison, to Sergeant James Ankrey Gilliam Jr., of the U. S. Army, of Fort Bragg, N. C.

The wedding was performed on September 5, at 2:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's pastor, Dr. R. L. McNair in Lynchburg in the presence of relatives and a few close friends. The ring ceremony was used.

The bride was attired in a brown crepe dress with matching accessories.

The bride is a graduate of the Appomattox high school and the groom attended schools in Prince Edward county.

Mrs. Gilliam will make her home with her parents at the present while Sergeant Gilliam has returned to post to resume his duties as instructor with the Army.

We nominate C. Kendall Hunter as a one-man chamber of commerce for Appomattox. Mr. Hunter has just returned from attending the national convention of the American Legion in Kansas City, Missouri. In Kansas City he put in a "plug" for Appomattox over a radio hook-up, when approached by a hotel lobby announcer who was was not up on history and didn't know how to pronounce the word, "Appomattox." In a conversational broadcast, Mr. Hunter took advantage of the swell opportunity to tell the mid-Westerners about Virginia and Appomattox.

In addition to enjoying the convention itself, Mr. Hunter was impressed by a visit to the great Kansas City stockyards.

Mr. Hunter had a "Believe it or not" experience in Cincinnati, en route to the convention. In the railroad terminal there he saw a group of several hundred soldiers entering the dining hall for breakfast. In the group he spotted several Appomattox boys, including Jennings Conner and Arthur Layne, on their way westward from Camp Lee.
